DETAILED ACTION

This Office action is in response to the communications filed March 20, 2001 and February 25, 2002, Paper Nos. 8 and 14.

Claims 1-34 are pending in the instant application.

The final Office action mailed October 25, 2001, is vacated in favor of the instant Office action.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Response to Arguments

Maintained Rejections

Claims 1-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, for the reasons of record set forth in the Office action mailed November 20, 2000, Paper No. 6.

Applicant's arguments filed March 20, 2001 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the term of claim 1, lines 12-13 which reads: "nucleotide compositions of $(X_1 X_2)_n$ and $(Y_1 Y_2)_n$ are substantially identical", and the term of claim 2, lines 15-16 which reads: "nucleotide compositions of $(X_1 X_2)_n A_m$ and $B_m(Y_1 Y_2)_n$ are substantially identical" are supported adequately in the instant disclosure and that one of ordinary skill in the art could easily determine the metes and bounds of these terms. Contrary to Applicants' assertions, it is not clear whether the claimed nucleotides are to be compared for substantial identity between the strands or between nucleotides of a particular strand (i.e. between X's, between Y's, between X's and Y's, between X₁'s and Y₁'s, between X₁'s plus X₂'s and Y₁'s plus Y₂'s...). Appropriate clarification is requested.

Claims 1-21 and 23-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Singer for the reasons set forth in the Office action mailed November 20, 2000, Paper No. 6.

Applicant's arguments filed April 23, 2001, Paper No. 8, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the claimed invention is distinct from the previously cited Singer reference because Singer does not teach two strands of double stranded nucleic acid molecules which are substantially identical in their base compositions in the bottom and top strands. Contrary to Applicants' assertions, Singer does teach nucleic acid molecules which comprise two or more repeating sequences separated by a restriction site, which repeating sequences comprise single identical or non-identical nucleotides and their complement, which repeating sequences conform to the formulae:

$(X_1X_2)_n$ (and its complement), whereby X_1 and X_2 are single nucleotides and n is an integer from 1 to 1×10^{10} ; or $(X_1X_2)_nA_m$ (and its complement $B_m(Y_1Y_2)_n$, whereby X_1 , X_2 , A and B are single nucleotides, n is an integer from 1 to 1×10^{10} , and m is an integer between 1 and 100, wherein two or more repeating sequences are separated by restriction endonuclease cleavage into repeats including monomers through pentamers. The examples provided in the instant specification of substantially identical base compositions comprise approximately 60 % sequence identity (See page 8 of the specification, lines 16-24). In the examples provided by Singer, nucleic acid molecules comprising approximately 60% sequence identity between the bottom and top strands are listed (See especially element design EP/SmP in Table 1 of Singer, in columns 11 and 12). Therefore the examples provided by Singer anticipated the claimed invention.

Claim Objections

Claim 22 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
